

Introduction of Reimeikan

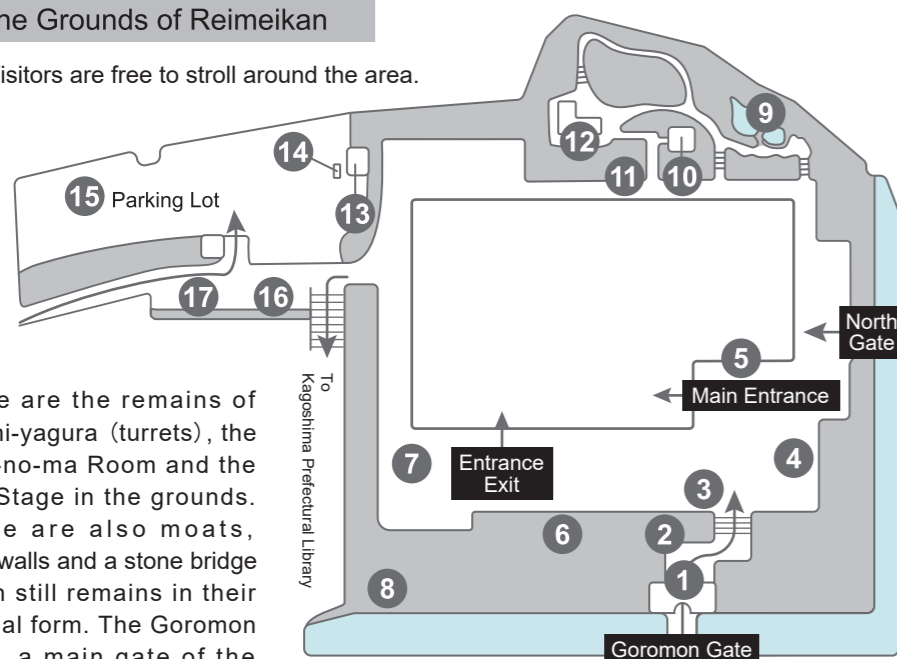

Kagoshima Prefectural Museum of Culture Reimeikan, also known as Reimeikan, is a comprehensive museum of the humanities. It was established in 1983 in commemoration of the 100th anniversary of the beginning of the Meiji period (1868).

Reimeikan stands on the site of the main keep of Kagoshima Castle. The castle was built in or around 1601 by Shimadzu Iehisa (the first lord of Satsuma Domain), and was used as the headquarters of the Shimadzu family throughout the Edo period (1603-1868). After the start of the Meiji period (1868), it was in turn a prefectural government office, a garrison, a middle school named Zoshikan (the domain school), the 7th Higher School Zoshikan, and once housed the Faculty of Literature and Science, and the Faculty of Medicine of Kagoshima University. After the relocation of the Faculty of Medicine in 1974, the buildings were reconstructed. The current building was designed by architect Taniguchi Yoshiro (1904-1979).

The permanent exhibitions introduce the characteristic archeology, history, folklore, arts and crafts of Kagoshima. They include the Thematic Exhibition Room, the Exhibition Sections, Exhibition Room for Special Plans and the Free Zone (Local Information Library and Experiential Learning Room).

The Grounds of Reimeikan

Visitors are free to stroll around the area.

There are the remains of Osumi-yagura (turrets), the Kirin-no-ma Room and the Noh Stage in the grounds. There are also moats, stonewalls and a stone bridge which still remains in their original form. The Goromon Gate, a main gate of the castle, was reconstructed in March 2020 for the first time in 147 years. The site of Kagoshima Castle, including the grounds of Reimeikan, was designated as a national historic site in March 2023.
